YESTERDAY'S GLAMOUR

I am honored to have been chosen to lead the restoration and renovation of the public areas of the Palais Schottenring Vienna. In today's connected world with no borders, interests reach beyond the frontiers of Austria, touching an audience throughout Europe and beyond traditional international boundaries.

The prestige of this operation is greatly enhanced by its location in one of the most beautiful cities of the world, in the epicenter of the golden circle where the Ringstraße encloses the historical center of Vienna. There is an impressive concentration of significant monuments along the Ringstraße, the most magnificent boulevard in all of Europe. Here, we find the emblematic buildings in Vienna, City of Art with a history of a thousand years, recognized as a world heritage site since 2001. In addition to public buildings such as the Imperial Palace, the Vienna State Opera and the Kunsthistorisches Museum, nearly 4 miles of its course are punctuated by sumptuous private residences designed by Europe's most renowned architects.

In the very heart of what was once the domain of the aristocrats and monarchs of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, the Palais Schottenring Vienna is the work of Wilhelm Fraenkel, who also constructed the old Palais Schlesinger and the Hotel Sacher, amongst other landmarks. In conducting a major campaign of renovation and transformation at the Palais Schottenring Vienna, I aim to return to this famous monument all the prestige of its glamorous history. This exceptional program will transform the Palais Schottenring Vienna into something even more unique. I conceived the plan both as a respectful tribute to the past and as a showcase of new ideas and inspirations, since Vienna has always been a crossroads of cultures, styles and languages.

THE RINGSTRASSE: VIENNA'S MOST EXCLUSIVE ADDRESS

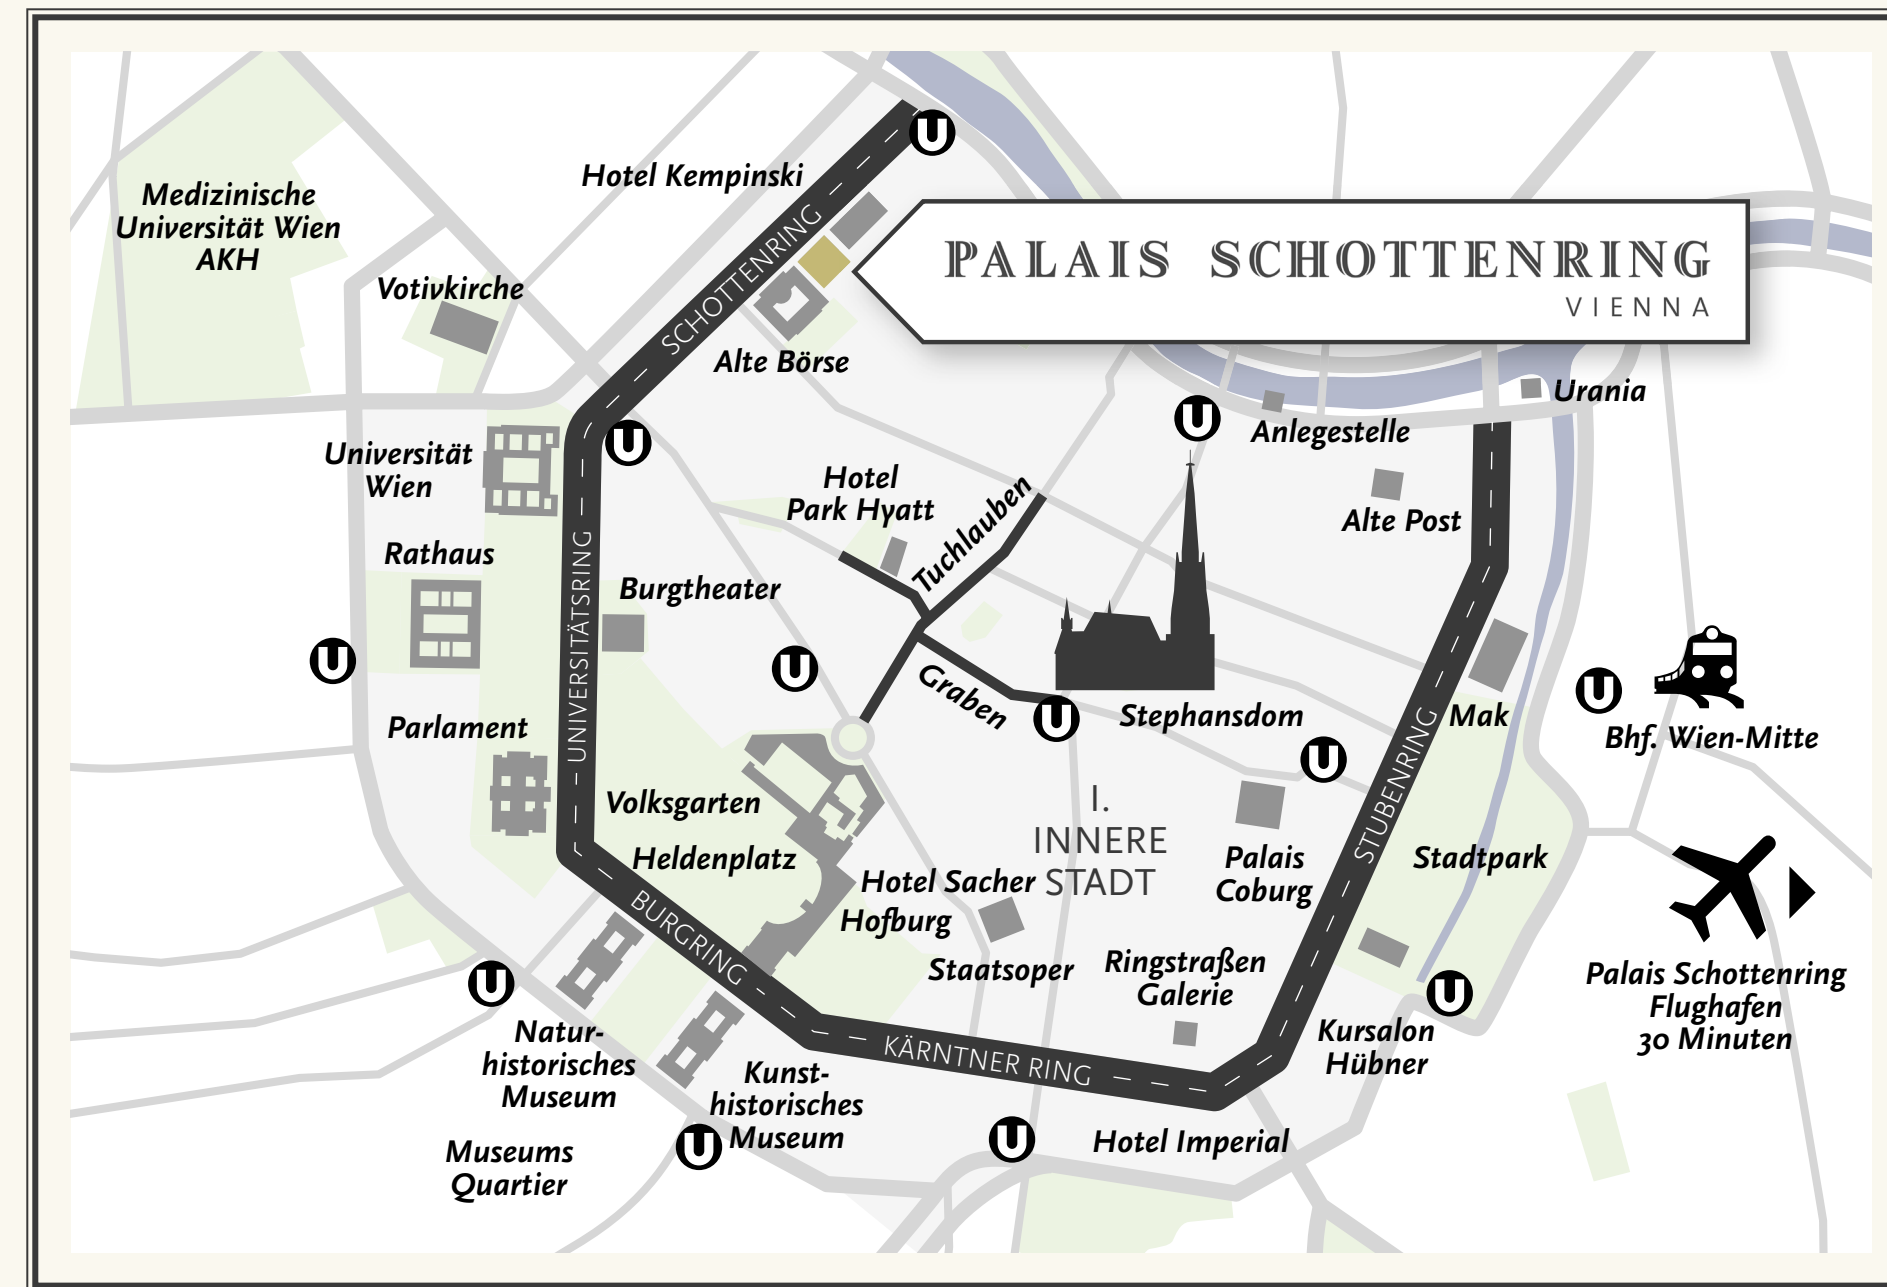

Like only a few places in the world, the Viennese Ringstrasse bears witness to the magnificence, splendor and dignity of the city's golden era. Here, the 'Belle Époque' is still very much alive – as a complete work of art, inspiring cosmopolitan life with its elegance and beauty. This fascinating boulevard welcomes visitors with its grand urban palaces and magnificent, stately buildings with strong, richly ornamented façades that claim their place as symbols of the wealth and ascendancy of the bourgeoisie. Nowhere else is the glory of Vienna as the center of power and the cultural capital of the once-powerful Habsburg Empire more vividly reflected than on the Ringstrasse.

LIVE LIKE A MODERN-DAY EMPEROR IN VIENNA

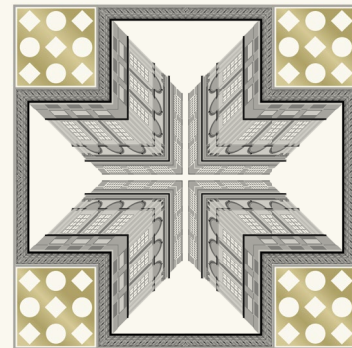

The First District, as the center of the great cosmopolitan capital of Vienna, makes it possible to directly experience the highlights of the former imperial city. Visitors can discover the magnificent historical buildings, such as St. Stephen's Cathedral, the State Opera House, the Imperial Palace and the Old Court Theater or enjoy the city's elegant flair while strolling along its glamorous boulevards or indulging in its many museums and gardens. The Palais Schottenring Vienna sits majestically between the venerable Vienna Stock Exchange and Palais Hansen, known today as the Kempinski Hotel.

LIVE IN A PALACE

Today, like 150 years ago, the Ringstrasse exudes the majestic flair of one of the most luxurious boulevards. Wilhelm Fraenkel, one of the star architects of the time, felt it was his duty to maintain the tradition of great livable palaces. The Palais Schottenring Vienna is an homage to classic Greek architecture. For the façade, Wilhelm Fraenkel was inspired by forms from the Italian Neo-Renaissance. The fringes of the building thus reflect a variety of detailed structures and decorations.

AT HOME IN LUXURY

The result of the renovation and expansion of the Palais Schottenring Vienna is undoubtedly the most exclusive residential project in Vienna, with imperial residences across four floors. Particular attention is not least being paid to the new common areas, which have been created in cooperation with the internationally renowned interior designer Juan Pablo Molyneux. Furthermore, Studio Molyneux adds its expertise and many years of experience with international customers to the floor plans of all the apartments. The Palais Schottenring Vienna sets new standards with its complex and unique design, and residents and visitors will notice the huge difference between this and other residential buildings the moment they enter. The general facilities include a vestibule with concierge service, a 200 m² reception hall and two exclusively furnished meeting rooms/offices. As the general contractor, Cuubuus architects and developers contributes its 20 years of experience in national and international project management. A secure foundation for the renovation of Palais Schottenring Vienna has been ensured by contracting the services of architect Prof. Manfred Wehdorn, a specialist in urban development, historic preservation and restoration.

EXPERIENCE YOUR OWN BELLE ÉPOQUE

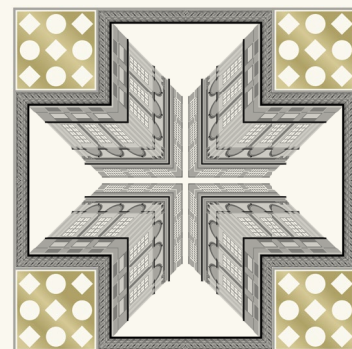

During the Belle Époque, the mood in the Viennese society could be characterized as positively euphoric. As the cultural capital of Europe, Vienna turned into a majestic stage whose cultural aspirations still influence much of what we think of today as 'modern' – whether art, music or design. The 'new' Palais Schottenring is dedicated to this zeitgeist and the aspiration for a new, high-quality lifestyle. This applies to the sophisticated architectural design of the building which blends the old and the new, as well as its overall concept. The comprehensive range of services guarantees 5-star comfort for future residents. Experience commitment to quality without compromise.

MAKE YOUR FLOOR THE BEL ÉTAGE

Two staircases frame the landscaped atrium of the spacious Palais Schottenring Vienna. The imperial residences on floors 1 to 4 will be up to 300 m² in size, but for those who require more space, even bigger apartments can be designed. Sample floor plans are available and can be customized to suit your unique requirements. For exclusive living at the highest level.

YESTERDAY'S GLAMOUR MEETS TOMORROW'S STYLE

At the time of its construction, the Palais Schottenring Vienna was considered a modern example of imperial architecture, as well as a symbol of Vienna's Golden Age. The skillful fusion of both the traditional and modern that combines comfort with state-of-the-art technical facilities was understood back then, just as it is today, as an expression of cultural self-perception. All of this serves to provide the greatest scope for a life with all possible creature comforts.
